Foreword by the FEI President

Welcome to Compiègne, France for the FEI World Endurance Championships for Young Horses 2011. This wonderful venue provides all the ingredients for a great two days of top sport, and I'm sure we can look forward to seeing some rising stars amongst the 7 and 8 year old horses that will be in action.

Endurance riding only developed into a competitive sport in the 1950s and arrived in Europe during the following decade. In 1982 it became an FEI-approved discipline, and gradually the number of events increased from four to eighteen. In 1998 the World Championships were staged in the United Arab Emirates. Thanks to the support of the UAE National Federation, competitors from 47 Federations around the world competed, and this proved the catalyst for an explosion of growth in participation over the following years.

In modern Endurance competition, the emphasis is on the horse finishing in good condition, rather than the one that finishes first, and it can take years for a partnership to develop to top level. Endurance requires extensive preparation, and key to success is the support crew who help ensure the health and well-being of both horse and rider during competition.

This is a truly "team" sport, and to everyone competing at these Championships, and to their dedicated support crews who play such an important role, I wish the very best of luck.

On behalf of the Fédération Equestre Internationale I also send my best wishes to the organisers, sponsors, officials, veterinary experts, horse owners, supporters, volunteers and spectators for an enjoyable and memorable event conducted in a spirit of friendship, sportsmanship and horsemanship.

HRH Princess Haya
FEI President

The City of Compiègne is located on the estuary of the Oise and Aisen rivers, 66 km south of Paris. Horses form an integral part of the heritage and history of the city and the FEI World Endurance Championships for Young Horses was able to take advantage of its equestrian facilities.

The hippodrome, with its great equestrian park and its carriageways, is the central point of the festival.

This esteemed, high-level equestrian event confirms yet again the vocation of Compiègne as a city horse.

The WAHO and the Endurance Riding

The WAHO (World Arabian Horse Organization), were founded in 1970 to identify the pure-bred Arabian horses and preserve the Arabian Breed.

The WAHO accredits the organizations that hold the Arabian Stud Books in more than 70 countries and makes sure they are working properly, mainly concerning the registration and verification of the pedigrees of the horses.

Moreover, the WAHO considers as an essential mission the promotion of the Arabian Breed and the implementation of actions for development.

For these horses, show events have greatly increased, as have flat races, with Arabian horses competing among themselves.

This is in contrast to Endurance Riding, which has developed rapidly at the international level, because this discipline gives Arabian horses the opportunity to prove their extraordinary qualities: they outclass all the other breeds.

This is why the WAHO attaches particular importance to this top sport, in which the achievement is the result as much of stamina, courage and quality of the horse, as talent of the rider and his respect of his horse.

Compiègne, with their World Championships for 7 and 8 horses and its international reputation, is a preferred and standard-setting venue for promoting Endurance Riding and the horses who compete in this sport.

The WAHO is very pleased to provide sponsorship and assistance of the World Breeding Trophy, which since its inception in 2005, has always been won by the Arabian breed.
